DC21. SUPREME COURT

[The publications of the former circuit and district courts of the District of Columbia are classed here, as under act approved Mar. 3, 1901 (Stat. L. v. 31, sec. 62, p. 1199) the justices of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia are to possess the same powers and exercise the jurisdiction possessed and exercised by the judges of the circuit and district courts of the United States. The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia is divided into a circuit court, an equity court, a district court, a criminal court, and a probate court (Tindall's Origin and government of District of Columbia, DC1.2:D63¹, p. 206). Section 64 of act approved Mar. 3, 1901 (Stat. L. v. 31, p. 1200) reads as follows: "The special terms of said court [Supreme Court of the District of Columbia] shall be known, respectively, as the circuit court, the equity court, the criminal court, the probate court, and the district court of the United States."]
