

W3. ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT

[During the Revolution there was an adjutant-general of the Army, but after the disbandment of the Army in 1783 there was no regular adjutant-general until the act of Mar. 3, 1791. The act of Mar. 5, 1792, provided for an adjutant who should do duty as inspector. The Adjutant-General's Department was established by act of Mar. 3, 1813.

By authority of act approved Apr. 23, 1904 (Stat. L. v. 33, pt. 1, p. 262), the Secretary of War issued an order, May 11, 1904 (W1.14:904F), by which the officers of the Adjutant-General's Department (excepting the adjutant-general) and the officers of the Record and Pension Office were consolidated into a department of the Army to be known as the Military Secretary's Department, while the Adjutant-General's Office and the Record and Pension Office (W40.) were consolidated into a bureau to be known as the Military Secretary's Office. By act approved Mar. 2, 1907 (Stat. L. v. 34, pt. 1, p. 1158), the Adjutant-General's Department was reestablished.]

[A compilation popularly known as Heitman's register, covering the period from 1789 to 1903, was issued under act approved Mar. 2, 1903. In the Public Documents Library the 2 volumes of this compilation are arranged so as to precede the regular set of Army registers.]

789-903<sup>1</sup> Historical register and dictionary of United States Army from its organization, Sept. 29, 1789, to Mar. 2, 1903; by Francis B. Heitman. 1903. v. 1, large 8° [4535-446]

789-903<sup>2</sup> Same. v. 2, large 8° [4536-446]

[The regular set of Army registers, as listed below, contains names of officers of Army, with record of service, rank, etc. The earliest registers appeared with slight variations in title, but since 1818 the title has read Official army register. 1813-38, Army registers for almost all years are found in American state papers, class 5, Military affairs, v. 1-7 (016-022). From 1819, for a number of years, there was usually but one issue a year, that being with a few exceptions in January. To supply the need for revised information between the annual issues, private prints, usually somewhat differently arranged, were issued for several years between 1835 and 1844, several by Benjamin Homans being entered in the list below. From 1846 to 1869 there were usually two official editions a year. Since 1870, there has been but one issue a year, but from 1891 this has been supplemented by the Army list and directory (W3.10).]

Prior to 1896, the annual issues of the Army register did not appear in the Congressional set. A report dated Nov. 18, 1818, showing number and grade of officers of Army, where stationed, number on duty, and those on furlough, was printed as 15th Congress, 2d session, House document 3, serial no. 17. From 1848 to 1860, transcripts of the official list, showing pay and allowances for each officer, were prepared by fiscal years, usually from the register issued the preceding January, with necessary corrections for deaths, resignations, etc. These appear in the Congressional set only, as follows:

1848	[543-56]	1855	[851-22]
1849	[577-54]	1856	[897-24]
1850	[679-48]	1857	[955-66]
1851	[679-50]	1858	[1006-58]
1852	[679-58]	1859	[1048-35]
1853	[721-59]	1860	[1100-54]
1854	[783-58]

Up to 1881 the size of the Army register varied, some of the earliest being 16° and later ones 12°, but since 1882 it has been uniformly 8°.]

W3.22: General orders

(date)

[Relate chiefly to the internal administration of the Army or some portion of it and are published for the information of military men. Not listed here.]

Individual General orders are occasionally bound or reprinted, sometimes with and sometimes without title-page. A striking example is General orders 100, 1863, Instructions for government of armies of United States in the field, by Francis Lieber, which has been reprinted many times. Such reprints, if published by the office of the Secretary of War or by the Adjutant-General's Department, are classed in the Public Documents Library with the originals thereof under W3.22: If, however, the reprints are published by other bureaus or offices of the Government, entries are made under such bureau or office; see, for example, entries under W42.13:H36<sup>1</sup> and W49.9<sup>2</sup>:R26<sup>1,2</sup>.]

[The Public Documents Library has no Station lists earlier than Oct. 4, 1895, but it is known that from Mar. 4, 1893, and probably prior to that, the lists were issued monthly or whenever there were changes enough to call for their publication. From Sept. 21, 1899, to May 4, 1905, Stations of Army was considered a weekly publication; since May, 1905, it has been a monthly.]

W4. CHICKAMAUGA AND CHATTANOOGA NATIONAL MILITARY PARK COMMISSION

By act approved Aug. 19, 1890, $125,000 was appropriated for the condemnation and purchase of the land rendered historic by the battles of Chattanooga and Chickamauga, and a commission was authorized to take up the work of converting the land into a national military park. The park was officially dedicated Sept. 18-20, 1895. See, for history of its establishment, p. 317-330 of Dedication of Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Park (Y4.C43:D36).]
