AR. AMERICAN REPUBLICS BUREAU †

[The International Bureau of American Republics was created by the 1st International American Conference held in Washington, D. C., Oct. 2, 1889–Apr. 19, 1890, and was confirmed and reorganized by the 2d and 3d International American Conferences held respectively in Mexico City, Oct. 22, 1901–Jan. 31, 1902, and in Rio de Janeiro, July 21–Aug. 26, 1906. This bureau is an international organization supported by contributions of the 21 Republics in this hemisphere, who have an equal interest in the institution.

The bureau was organized in 1890, under the supervision of the Secretary of State of the United States, acting at the request of the 1st conference, and under authority of act of Congress approved July 14, 1890 (Stat. L. v. 26, p. 275). Mar. 18, 1899, at a conference of diplomatic representatives of the countries composing the International Union of American Republics it was unanimously agreed, that "the Bureau of American Republics shall be governed under the supervision of the Secretary of State of the United States with the cooperation and advice of four representatives of the other Republics composing the International Union, the five persons indicated to constitute an executive committee of which the Secretary of State is to be ex-officio chairman, or in his absence, the acting Secretary of State." At the 2d International American Conference, held in Mexico, it was resolved as follows: "Article 1. The International Bureau of the American Republics shall be under the control of a Governing Board composed of the diplomatic representatives of all the Governments of said Republics accredited near the Government of the United States of America, and of the Secretary of State of the latter nation, who shall be the chairman of said board." The 3d International American Conference enlarged the scope of the bureau without materially altering its status or organization.

Notwithstanding the fact of its close connection with the Secretary of State, it has never been, strictly speaking, a division of the State Department of the United States.

† In accordance with a resolution passed and signed by the 4th International American Conference held in Buenos Aires, July 12–Aug. 30, 1910, the name of the American Republics Bureau was changed to Pan American Union. As this Checklist ends with the publications of the calendar year 1909, it uses the form "American Republics Bureau." In accordance with the resolution above referred to, the title of the director was changed to "director general" and the title of the secretary to "assistant director."

This bureau is the custodian of the archives of the International American Conferences, and is especially charged with the performance of duties imposed upon it by these conferences. See also, for publications of 1st-3d International American Conferences, S5.9¹⁻³:
