C. COMMERCE AND LABOR DEPARTMENT

[The act to establish the Department of Commerce and Labor, approved Feb. 14, 1903 (Stat. L. v. 32, pt. 1, p. 825), includes the following provisions:

That there shall be at the seat of government an executive department to be known as the Department of Commerce and Labor, and a Secretary of Commerce and Labor, who shall be the head thereof. * * *

SEC. 4. That the following-named offices, bureaus, divisions, and branches of the public service, now and heretofore under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Treasury, and all that pertains to the same, known as the Light-House Board, the Light-House Establishment, the Steamboat-Inspection Service, the Bureau of Navigation, the United States Shipping Commissioners, the National Bureau of Standards, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Commissioner-General of Immigration, the commissioners of immigration, the Bureau of Immigration, the immigration service at large, and the Bureau of Statistics, be, and the same hereby are, transferred from the Department of the Treasury to the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the same shall hereafter remain under the jurisdiction and supervision of the last-named Department; and that the Census Office, and all that pertains to the same, be, and the same hereby is, transferred from the Department of the Interior to the Department of Commerce and Labor, to remain henceforth under the jurisdiction of the latter; that the Department of Labor, the Fish Commission, and the Office of Commissioner of Fish and Fisheries, and all that pertains to the same, be, and the same hereby are, placed under the jurisdiction and made a part of the Department of Commerce and Labor; that the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, now in the Department of State, be, and the same hereby is, transferred to the Department of Commerce and Labor and consolidated with and made a part of the Bureau of Statistics, hereinbefore transferred from the Department of the Treasury to the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the two shall constitute one bureau, to be called the Bureau of Statistics, with a chief of the bureau; and that the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall have control of the work of gathering and distributing statistical information naturally relating to the subjects confided to his Department; and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor is hereby given the power and authority to rearrange the statistical work of the bureaus and offices confided to said Department, and to consolidate any of the statistical bureaus and offices transferred to said Department; and said Secretary shall also have authority to call upon other Departments of the Government for statistical data and results obtained by them; and said Secretary of Commerce and Labor may collate, arrange, and publish such statistical information so obtained in such manner as to him may seem wise. * * *

- SEC. 5. That there shall be in the Department of Commerce and Labor a bureau to be called the Bureau of Manufactures, and a chief of said bureau. * * *
- SEC. 6. That there shall be in the Department of Commerce and Labor a bureau to be called the Bureau of Corporations, and a Commissioner of Corporations who shall be the head of said bureau. * * *
- SEC. 7. That the jurisdiction, supervision and control now possessed and exercised by the Department of the Treasury over the fur-seal, salmon and other fisheries of Alaska and over the immigration of aliens into the United States, its waters, territories and any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are hereby transferred and vested in the Department of Commerce and Labor. * * *
- SEC. 13. That this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage: Provided, however, That the provisions of this Act other than those of section twelve in relation to the transfer of any existing office, bureau, division, officer or other branch of the public service or authority now conferred thereon, to the Department of Commerce and Labor shall take effect and be in force on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and three, and not before.
- See, for Organization and law of Department of Commerce and Labor, C1.2:Or3.]*

C2. ALASKAN FISHERIES DIVISION

[That part of the Special Agents Division of the Treasury Department having in charge the fisheries of Alaska was transferred to the Department of Commerce and Labor July 1, 1903, and organized as the Division of Alaskan Fisheries. See, for earlier publications, T35.]

On Dec. 5, 1905, by order of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, the agents at salmon fisheries of Alaska originally under the immediate direction of the Secretary, were placed under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Fisheries (C6.).

The name "Division of Alaskan Fisheries" was used as late as Dec. 1, 1907, by the Commerce and Labor Department in "Reports relating to Alaskan seal fisheries" (C2.2:A11).

Up to Dec. 28, 1908, there were four agents of the Department who had supervision of the Fur-Seal Islands, otherwise known as the islands of St. Paul and St. George in the Pribilof Group, Alaska. These agents reported directly to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor but were not officially designated as a division of the Secretary's office.

The Alaskan Fisheries Division was abolished Dec. 28, 1908, when an order of the Department of Commerce and Labor was issued transferring the work of these four agents to the Fisheries Bureau (C6.). Under the Fisheries Bureau there was created a fur-seal board which consisted of an administrative board of five members and an advisory board of distinguished naturalists. The administrative board so constituted is under the direction of the commissioner of fisheries, the advisory board being called upon by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor from time to time to give information to the Department. See, for Organization and law of Department of Commerce and Labor, C1.2:Or3.]
