

LC. LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

[The Library of Congress, first established by the act of Apr. 24, 1800, was partially destroyed in 1814 when the British fired the Capitol. By the act of Jan. 30, 1815, the library of Thomas Jefferson was purchased by the Government, and this collection formed the basis of the present national library. See History of Library of Congress, by W. D. Johnston (LC1.2:H62).]

LC3. COPYRIGHT OFFICE

[The connection of the Copyright Office with the Library of Congress dates from the act approved July 8, 1870. The act approved Feb. 19, 1897, created a register of copyrights whose duties were to be performed under the direction and supervision of the Librarian of Congress. See, for an account of the office, annual report of Library of Congress, 1901 (LC1.1:901), and History of Library of Congress, by W. D. Johnston (LC1.2:H62), and for Copyright enactments of United States, 1783-1906, Copyright Office Bulletin 3, 2d edition (LC3.3:3²).

The Public Documents Library has no copyright publications issued prior to July 8, 1870. From May 31, 1790 to Feb. 5, 1859, jurisdiction over copyright matters was vested in the Department of State, and from Feb. 5, 1859 to July 8, 1870, in the Department of the Interior.]

† This Checklist ends with the publications of the calendar year 1909. Pt. 1, group 1, was issued weekly up to v. 8, no. 8, Mar. 23, 1911. From the last week of Mar. to Sept. 1911, issues have appeared 3 times a week, in signature form, without title-page. The year, number, and date of printing appear at the bottom of the first page, and the title and volume number are carried in the running head.

Beginning Mar. 1911, separate monthly indexes have been issued. These are unnumbered, but are classed in the Public Documents Library following the numbers which they index.

N. NAVY DEPARTMENT †

[Created by act approved Apr. 30, 1798, supervision of naval affairs having been exercised prior to that time by the War Department. Reorganized by acts of Aug. 31, 1842 and July 5, 1862. A further reorganization under order of the Secretary of the Navy was put into effect Dec. 1, 1909.]

† Toward the close of the period covered by this Checklist, Secretary Meyer planned radical changes in the organization of the Navy Department. His scheme of organization was set forth in detail and promulgated by the publication entitled Changes in Navy regulations, 1909, no. 6 (N1.11²:909⁶), dated Nov. 18, 1909 and effective Dec. 1, 1909. It was not, however, until some months thereafter that any portion of the new scheme received the sanction of Congress, and even then it was only a temporary sanction, which permitted a trial of the plan for a year. The time has since been extended, but up to the date of the present writing (May, 1911) the reorganization can not with assurance be considered a permanent arrangement.

It is impracticable here to enter into a detailed description of the Meyer reorganization. Among its most important features is one which grouped the work of the Navy Department under 4 general divisions, as follows: (a) Division of Operations of the Fleet; (b) Division of Personnel; (c) Division of Material; (d) Division of Inspections. To assist the Secretary of the Navy in coordinating and carrying on the work of these 4 divisions, there are on duty in the office of the Secretary 4 officers of the Navy, on the active list, known, respectively, as the (a) Aid for operations; (b) Aid for personnel; (c) Aid for material; (d) Aid for inspections. These officers advise the Secretary on all matters pertaining to the duties of their respective divisions. The divisions over which they preside do not, however, issue documents and are not Government publishing offices. Hence in this Checklist there is no classification assigned to them.

In pursuance of recommendations from the Navy Department (see 61st Congress, 2d session, House report 293, serial no. 5591), the Bureau of Equipment (N5.) was abolished by naval appropriation act approved June 24, 1910 (Stat. L. v. 36, pt. 1, p. 613), and its work distributed to other bureaus; see, for further information, footnote for N5.

Information concerning changes in other bureaus, etc., affected by the Meyer reorganization and by naval appropriation act of June 24, 1910 may be found in footnotes at the points affected.
