T. TREASURY DEPARTMENT

[The Treasury Department was the third Executive Department, having been created by act approved Sept. 2, 1789 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 65).]

T1. SECRETARY

T1.1: Annual reports on state of finances [or Finance reports]

[By the act organizing the Treasury Department approved Sept. 2, 1789 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 65), it was made the duty of the Secretary to prepare and report estimates of public revenue and public expenditures, and to make report and give information to Congress or either branch thereof in person or in writing, as required, respecting all matters referred to him by the Senate or House or which appertain to his office. Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury, made no annual reports, but submitted papers on the public credit, a national bank, manufactures, and the establishment of a mint. Oliver Wolcott, who succeeded Hamilton as Secretary of the Treasury, made two reports on the receipts and expenditures of the Government, one to the Committee of Ways and Means, Apr. 27, 1798, and the other to the House of Representatives Feb. 21, 1800.

By act approved May 10, 1800 (Stat. L. v. 2, p. 79), it was made the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to prepare and lay before Congress at the commencement of every session a report on the subject of finance containing estimates of public revenue and public expenditures. The first regular annual report is that of Albert Gallatin, 1801, and thereafter there is a consecutive series.

Beginning with 1817, the annual reports have appeared regularly in the Congressional set.

The Public Documents Library has an original print of the 1808 report, 7 p. f^o, and a print of the Sept. 5, 1837, report, 16 p. 8^o. Both are without the accompanying papers, which are included in the document editions thereof.

Reprints of the reports on the finances, Apr. 11, 1789-May 16, 1828, appear in American State papers, finance, v. 1-5; see serial nos. 09-013.

Another series of reprints was issued by order of the Senate. This series consists of 7 v., printed at different times from 1828 to 1851 and including reports 1790-1849. These volumes are listed below preceding the listing of the individual annual issues.

T1.1: Annual reports on state of finances [or Finance reports]—
Continued

Of the individual reports from 1817, the Public Documents Library has no edition without Congressional document number prior to 1871, except 1866, 1867, and 1869. Beginning 1871, there have been both Congressional and Department editions for each year.]

(v. nos.) Reports on finances, 1790–1849 (reprints of annual reports)

[The Senate, by resolution of Feb. 7, 1828 (Senate journal, serial no. 162, p. 140) provided that there be printed and bound 600 copies of the annual reports of the Secretary of the Treasury, including the reports of Alexander Hamilton. The reprinting of the annual reports continued until 1849. The first print, issued by Duff Green, consisted of 2 v. including the reports through 1828; the second print, by Blair & Rives, reprinted the first 2 v. and included a third, bringing the work down to 1836; later volumes continued the work to 1849.

This set includes, besides the annual reports, reprints of a few other papers on finance. These volumes are not in the numbered series of Congressional documents.]

- 1¹ Reports of Secretary of Treasury [Jan. 1790–Dec. 1814] prepared in obedience to act of May 10, 1800, to which are prefixed reports of Alexander Hamilton on public credit, a national bank, manufactures, and establishment of a mint. Washington, printed by Duff Green, 1828. v. 1.

T1.11¹: Treasury decisions

[From 1868 to 1897, the decisions were published monthly, though not infrequently decisions made during two and even three months were published in one pamphlet. These monthly numbers were bound up at the end of the calendar year into annual volumes. Beginning Jan. 1898, the decisions have been published weekly; see T1.11²:

The Public Documents Library has only annual volumes which have been bound in such wise that the identity of the individual numbers is lost. For this reason it is not practicable to list them here in detail.

The internal revenue decisions are published at the end of the year in a separate volume. For 1900-03, the volumes of collected internal revenue decisions were issued from the office of the Secretary and also, in slightly different form, from the office of the commissioner of internal revenue. For 1904-09, they have been issued by the latter office only; see T22.8¹:

Beginning 1890, the decisions of the Board of General Appraisers (T20.) are also included in these volumes. Their decisions bear both a Treasury decisions number and a general appraisers' number. †

1899-1909, the volumes have been numbered consecutively, appearing semiannually since 1904-09.]

Synopsis of sundry decisions rendered by Treasury Department under tariff and other acts during year ending Dec. 31, —

1868 4° [Department decisions 1-319.]

1869 4° [Department decisions 320-524 (except 344).]

† Beginning in 1910, the decisions of the Court of Customs Appeals (Ju7.) are also published among the Treasury decisions, in accordance with the act establishing the court. See, for bound volumes of the Court of Customs Appeals Reports, footnote for Ju7.5:

T11. COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY

[Systematic survey of coasts of the United States was provided for in 1807 in response to recommendation of President Jefferson and Congress passed an act, approved Feb. 10, 1807, which "authorized and requested" the President "to cause a survey to be taken of coasts of the United States" and "to cause proper and intelligent persons to be employed" on the work. $50,000 was appropriated to carry the act into effect. Direction of the work was intrusted to the Treasury Department by the President, and the Secretary of the Treasury, with approval of the President, requested plans for the work from a number of men who were supposed to be qualified to undertake it. The plan submitted by Ferdinand Rudolph Hassler was adopted but nothing else was done until July 27, 1811, when he was engaged to proceed to Europe to have necessary instruments constructed and to purchase others. He was detained there by the War of 1812, and by other causes until Aug. 8, 1815, when he started on his return and arrived at Philadelphia Oct. 22. He continued preparations for the work, and Aug. 3, 1816, was employed as superintendent of Survey of the Coast with approval of President Madison.

Apr. 14, 1818, Congress repealed the provisions of the act of 1807, which authorized employment of other persons than those belonging to the Army and Navy, and the instruments, records, and funds were turned over to the War Department by Mr. Hassler.

Systematic survey of the coast was suspended until July 10, 1832, when Congress again authorized employment of civilians on the work. During this period (1818-32) some detached surveys were made of harbors along the coast by officers of the Navy, for naval purposes, under special acts of Congress for specified localities, but the Secretary of the Navy in his annual reports for 1825 and 1828 reported the existing condition as unsatisfactory and recommended the establishment of an organization to make systematic and scientific survey of the whole coast as urgently needed by commercial and naval interests of the country.

In his report dated Nov. 27, 1828, the Secretary of the Navy makes the following statement concerning the detached surveys mentioned above: "These surveys, although executed as well as the circumstances in which the officers were placed would allow, and have probably been sufficient to answer the object of the resolution, yet they do not afford materials for an accurate chart of the harbors and the approaches to them, and assist but little towards a perfect knowledge of our coasts, which can only be acquired by that scientific survey of the whole, the importance of which I have heretofore ventured to urge, and would again respectfully suggest." His recommendation was finally approved by Congress when on July 10, 1832, as noted above, it again authorized employment of civilians.

By this act of July 10, 1832, Congress revived the original act of Feb. 10, 1807, and the President was authorized to proceed with the work. The Survey was again placed under the Treasury Department, Mr. Hassler was again appointed superintendent, Aug. 9, 1832, and the work proceeded under the Treasury Department until Mar. 11, 1834, when it was transferred to the Navy Department by order of President Jackson. The direction of the work was kept in the Navy Department until Mar. 26, 1836, when it was again transferred to the Treasury Department by President Jackson.

The direction of the Survey then remained in the Treasury Department until July 1, 1903, when it was transferred to the Department of Commerce and Labor by act creating that Department, approved Feb. 14, 1903.

Mr. Hassler made his report, as superintendent of the Survey of the Coast until 1836, when the report was first made by him as superintendent of Coast Survey.

On July 1, 1871, by act approved Mar. 3, 1871, the work of Coast Survey was extended to include a primary triangulation across the continent to form a geodetic connection between the work on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The name was not changed, however, until in the sundry civil appropriation act, approved June 20, 1878, the subhead "Coast and Geodetic Survey" was used. Since that date "Coast and Geodetic Survey" is given as the title of the Survey in all its publications.

At the time of Prof. Hassler's reappointment as superintendent of Coast Survey, he was engaged in the Treasury Department "in comparing the weights and measures used at the custom-houses of the United States, and ascertaining by experiment the proper hydrometer proofs of liquor," and this work was continued in his charge as part of the work of the Coast Survey. The Office of Standard Weights and Measures remained under the superintendent of the Survey until July 1, 1901, when, by act approved Mar. 3, 1901, it became the National Bureau of Standards.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey was transferred to Commerce and Labor Organization, July 1, 1903; see C4. See, for histories of Coast and Geodetic Survey, T11.2:H62¹⁻³, P93¹⁻³, and for Organization and law of Department of Commerce and Labor, C1.2:Or3.]

T12. COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY

T12.1: Annual reports

[1863 and 1864, included in full in annual reports of Treasury Department (Finance reports, T1.1:). From 1865 to 1909, the Finance reports include the text of the report of the Comptroller of the Currency and sometimes certain summaries, but the reports of national banks and most of the statistical tables are omitted. For the years 1887-1904, during which time the report consisted of more than one volume, the reports on the condition of national banks are given in v. 2. In addition to the full reports listed below, certain portions have been issued separately; see notes under T12.1a: and T12.7:]

[The Treasury Department document numbers are included in the entries for 1887-94, because for those years different edition numbers have been assigned by Treasury Department as a part of that phrase, presumably for the purpose of distinguishing between the various issues of one year. The edition number, therefore, does not have its usual meaning here. In several cases the text of the Comptroller's report issued in pamphlet form (T12.1a:) bears on verso of the title-page a Treasury Department document number followed by "1st edition," which arrangement makes v. 1 of the full report (T12.1:), 2d edition, and v. 2, 3d edition. The following entries show these peculiarities as far as can be ascertained from the set in the Public Documents Library.]

- (date) [From about 1868 to 1909, the report of the Comptroller, without the reports of national banks, has usually been issued separately, in the earlier years with same title-page as the full report, but beginning 1895 with title "Text of annual report of Comptroller of Currency."
 In the earliest years, the separate included practically everything except the reports of national banks. From 1876 to 1884, two separates were issued each year, one in paper, containing the text of the report and the digest of decisions, the other bound in cloth, containing also the most important tables. Since about 1890, the separate has omitted all of the appended tables.
 Such digests of decisions as have been issued separately are classed under T12.7: with later digests which were not included in the annual report.]

T12.3^a: Bulletins (separates)

(CT) [The summary, Organization of national banks, which appears in the first issue of the Bulletin for each month, also certain other portions of the Bulletins, are sometimes issued separately.]

T12.4: Circulars

(nos.) [Circulars relating to the work of this office are issued in the series of Treasury Department circulars; see certain issues under T1.4:]

T12.5: Abstract of reports of condition of national banks oblong 8° and 4°

[These abstracts are prepared from the reports submitted by national banks in response to calls from the Comptroller of the Currency (see also T12.11¹). Prior to 1869, reports were made quarterly, but the act of Mar. 3, 1869, required that they be made 5 times a year.

The abstracts are issued separately as shown below, and a similar abstract, though not always in the same form, has been included in the annual report. The first abstract of this nature appeared in the annual report for 1863. With his report for 1864, the Comptroller submitted the reports of banks and an abstract thereof for that year, but so far as is known, the latter were not printed. The abstracts included in the annual reports 1865-70 are for quarterly periods; the annual reports for 1871-1909 exhibit the statistics as compiled 5 times a year.

The Public Documents Library has none of the separately issued abstracts prior to 1893. From Mar. 5, 1895, to Oct. 6, 1896, each issue included not only a summary for the whole United States, but also a sheet for each State and Territory, one for each reserve city, and one for trust companies in Washington, D. C. For Dec. 17, 1896, the sheets for the individual States, etc., were issued in oblong 8° in the same form as the other issues for 1895 and 1896, but the summary was printed in a 4° pamphlet which contained also the statistics for the individual States, etc. Beginning with the issue for Mar. 9, 1897, the oblong 8° sheets were discontinued, and in their stead was issued the 4° pamphlet containing the same information.

None of the earlier issues were numbered, but numbers have appeared on the publications beginning with no. 13, for Apr. 5, 1899. In the list below, the date used is the date for which returns are made.]

T13. 1st COMPTROLLER

[The act of Sept. 2, 1789, which established the Treasury Department, authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to appoint a Comptroller, the duties of whose office were laid down in that act (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 65, 66). The office became known as that of 1st Comptroller in 1817, when by act of Mar. 3 (Stat. L. v. 3, p. 366), the office of 2d Comptroller was established. By act approved July 31, 1894, effective Oct. 1, 1894 (Stat. L. v. 28, p. 205, 208), the offices of 2d Comptroller and Commissioner of Customs were abolished and the work which had been carried on in those offices was combined with that of the 1st Comptroller, whose designation then became Comptroller of the Treasury; see T15.]

T18. ENGRAVING AND PRINTING BUREAU

[Engraving and printing for the Treasury Department was done for many years by contractors, but at the time of the Civil War it was found necessary to organize a bureau to attend to the final work on the great number of notes issued. By act approved July 11, 1862 (Stat. L. v. 12, p. 532), the Secretary of the Treasury was empowered by Congress to purchase machinery and employ persons to do the work. In 1863, the bureau was called the National Currency Bureau and a few years afterward it became known as Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Reorganized in 1877. The act approved June 4, 1897 (Stat. L. v. 30, p. 18) provides that all business of the Engraving and Printing Bureau shall be under immediate control of the director, subject to order of the Secretary of the Treasury.]

Examinations were conducted for many years according to varying systems and rules. See, for early history of examinations, p. 6 of annual report, 1889 (T19.1:889). The work of the Board of Examiners was for a time included in that of the Committee on Personnel which was abolished Feb. 10, 1909, by order of the Secretary of the Treasury; see Treasury Department circular 8, 1909 (T1.4:909⁸).]

T20. APPRAISERS

[By act of Mar. 1, 1823, the President was authorized to appoint two appraisers in each of the 7 principal ports of entry. Other appraisers, as well as assistant appraisers appointed by the Secretary of Treasury, were provided for by later acts.

The customs administrative act approved June 10, 1890 (Stat. L. v. 26, p. 136) provided for 9 general appraisers, appointed by the President, who act upon appeals, either individually or as boards of 3, according to the nature of the case. The 9 general appraisers are also organized for the preparation of joint reports, etc., into a general board, with headquarters at New York. Reports and samples of merchandise are sent by local appraisers to the board at New York.

The decisions of the general appraisers are included in the Treasury decisions; see T1.11^{1,2}: Certain publications of the appraisers, e. g., Reports of conferences of local appraisers (T20.5:), Reappraisement circulars (T20.4¹:), and the earlier issues of Indexes to reappraisements (T20.4²:), appear bearing the name of the Division of Customs, but they are classed here with the other publications of the appraisers.]

From Aug. 9, 1890 to Jan. 6, 1898, reports of reappraisements appeared as certain issues in the series of Treasury Department circulars (T1.4:). During 1898 and 1899 they were published in the weekly Treasury decisions (T1.11:).

Beginning Jan. 1900, the present series of weekly Reappraisal circulars was begun. The matter is transmitted to the Department by the president of the Board of General Appraisers and printed under the supervision of the Customs Division. Each issue includes the matter contained in the daily issues, of which there were from 1 to 6 during that week. The first of this series in the Public Documents Library is the issue of Jan. 8, 1900, designated as Reappraisal circulars 438-443; the last issue during the period covered by this Checklist is that of Dec. 27, 1909, Reappraisal circulars 2052-2053.]

T21. IMMIGRATION BUREAU

[In accordance with act of Mar. 2, 1819 (Stat. L. v. 3, p. 489), reports concerning immigrants were made annually to Congress by the Secretary of State, from 1820 to 1870, and statistics were collected by the State Department up to 1874. The reports for 1865 to 1867 were rendered by the commissioner of immigration appointed under act of July 4, 1864 (Stat. L. v. 13, p. 385), but transmitted through the Secretary of State. The last-mentioned act was repealed Mar. 30, 1868, which abolished the first Immigration Bureau (or Commission).]

A Statistics Bureau (T37.) was established in the Treasury Department, July 28, 1866, and beginning with 1869 a report on immigration was included in the report on commerce and navigation issued by that bureau, thus duplicating the work of the State Department up to 1874, when by act of May 7, 1874 (Stat. L. v. 18, pt. 3, p. 42), it was provided that the report on immigration should be rendered to Congress through the Treasury Department rather than the State Department. The Statistics Bureau continued to issue these reports up to 1895, duplicating the work of the present Immigration Bureau from 1892 to 1895.

The present Immigration Bureau was established July 12, 1891 (Stat. L. v. 26, p. 1085). Transferred to Commerce and Labor Department, July 1, 1903; see C7.]

[1820-70 (except 1822), prior to establishment of Immigration Bureau, annual reports on immigration were made by the Secretary of State, but appeared only as Congressional documents. The reports for 1865 to 1867 were transmitted to the Secretary of State by the commissioner of immigration whose office was abolished in 1868; see note under T21.]

1869-91, prior to establishment of Immigration Bureau, annual reports on immigration appeared in annual reports on Foreign commerce and navigation made by Statistics Bureau, Treasury Dept. (T37.1:.)]

(v. nos.) [A compilation containing decisions 1-176, rendered between Oct. 1862, and June 21 1870, appeared in 1871 with title, Decisions published by Office of Internal Revenue to Jan. 1871 (see T22.5:871²); four other decisions rendered between 1871 and 1893, bearing nos. 177-180, appeared in other compilations issued by Office of Internal Revenue (see T22.5:882, 893).

The majority of the decisions rendered from Dec. 24, 1864, to Dec. 31, 1897, appeared originally in the form of letters to internal revenue officers, published by contract in the Internal Revenue record, a weekly issued in New York City. These appeared later in a digest prepared in the Office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue (see T22.8²:864-898).

Beginning with 1898, the decisions of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue have been published in the weekly Treasury decisions (T1.11²); being numbered in that series until the end of 1899. Beginning with Jan. 1900, they have been numbered in a series of their own.

From 1898 to 1909, the internal revenue decisions were collected at the end of each calendar year and issued in a separate volume with title as shown below. From 1900 to 1903, there was each year a duplicate of this annual volume issued in style uniform with the bound volume of Treasury decisions; see T1.11¹:]

- T22.17: Regulations [series 7]
- (nos.) [In 1881, the Office of Internal Revenue had bound a small number of copies of all current regulations of this series, with list of contents, and title-page reading, Regulations and instructions, series 7 complete, from no. 1 to no. 14, inclusive, with the respective appendixes and supplements, compiled Feb. 21, 1881. Similar volumes were bound in 1884 and 1893. As these volumes were not reprints, but merely a binding up for official use of the individual regulations previously issued, no further account is taken of them in this Checklist. The designation "Series 7" was dropped from the publications beginning about Sept. 1900. From 1880 to 1898, most but not all of the issues bore Treasury Department document numbers; since 1898, only a few have been so numbered. In a few cases a number which had been used for regulations on one subject has been used again for a different set of regulations of a later period. In all such cases brief titles have been given for identification in the list below. Certain Regulations of series 7 which were current in Feb. 1907 were issued as pt. 4 of Rules and regulations governing Treasury Department in its various branches; see 59th Congress, 2d session, Senate document 399, pt. 4, serial no. 5095.]

T23. LIBRARY

[There was a small library in the Treasury Department from a very early date. From about 1863, its growth was steady until it numbered 25,000 volumes. In 1909, by the transfer of a large number of these to the Life-Saving Service, the Library of Congress, etc., it was reduced to a comparatively small working collection for the official use of the Treasury Department.]

T25. LIGHT-HOUSE BOARD

[Although the Light-House Board was organized under provisions of act approved Aug. 31, 1852, light-houses, beacons, buoys, etc., have been established and maintained by the United States Government since Aug. 15, 1789 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 53). Previous to that time the work had been carried on by the several States. Various later acts than that of 1789 indicate that the work was under the supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury. The Secretary detailed at various times different officers to superintend this work; for much of the time prior to 1852 the 5th auditor directed the work and was sometimes spoken of as the "general superintendent of the Light-House Establishment."

In accordance with act approved Mar. 3, 1851 (Stat. L. v. 9, p. 629), a temporary Light-House Board was organized to inquire into the condition of the Light-House Establishment. The members of this board with 2 additional members formed, Oct. 9, 1852, the permanent board appointed under provisions of act of Aug. 31, 1852 (Stat. L. v. 10, p. 119).

Several publications relating to the Light-House Establishment issued before the organization of the permanent board in 1852 have been entered under T25. as that has seemed the most logical place for them.

See, for Compilation of public documents and extracts from reports and papers relating to light-houses, light-vessels, etc., 1789-1871, T25.2:C73.

Transferred to Commerce and Labor Department, July 1, 1903; see C9.]

T27. PUBLIC HEALTH AND MARINE-HOSPITAL SERVICE

[The Marine-Hospital Service grew out of the act of July 16, 1798 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 605) and subsequent acts for the relief of sick and disabled seamen. Reorganized by act of June 29, 1870 (Stat. L. v. 16, p. 169). Name changed by act of July 1, 1902 (Stat. L. v. 32, pt. 1, p. 712) to Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service.

From 1879 to 1885 certain duties relating to the public health were transferred by act of June 2, 1879 (Stat. L. v. 21, p. 5-7) to the National Board of Health (T29.).

See, for historical sketches of Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service, T27.1:872, p. 7-27, T27.2:M33, and T27.12:13, 20.]

T27.1: Annual reports of surgeon-general

[1853-61, certain statistics concerning marine hospitals are included in annual reports of Treasury Department (Finance reports, T1.1:). A special report containing statistics for 6 months ending Dec. 31, 1871, was issued as a Congressional document; see [1479-36].

The first of the present series of reports is that for fiscal year 1872. The number of the report does not appear on the title-page, but it is frequently mentioned in the letter of transmittal. This numbering exhibited various inconsistencies prior to 1893. Beginning with report for 1893, the numbering has been on the basis of an individual report for each year beginning with that for 1872, notwithstanding the fact that the report for 1876 was included with that for 1877, and the report for 1878 with that for 1879.

Only a very brief unsigned summary is included in annual reports of Treasury Department (Finance reports, T1.1:).]

[The laboratory of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service is known as the Hygienic Laboratory. It was established at the marine hospital on Staten Island, N. Y., Aug. 1887. Transferred to Washington, D. C., June 11, 1891.

The series of bulletins listed below includes the most important printed records of the work of the laboratory.

Annual reports are also made each year to the surgeon-general of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service; those for 1891, 1894-1905 are printed in full over the signature of the director of the Hygienic Laboratory in the annual reports of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service (T27.1:); for 1888-90, 1906-09, the work of the laboratory is merely summarized by the surgeon-general of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service in his report; reports for 1892, 1893, if made, were not printed. The only annual report of the Hygienic Laboratory issued separately is that for 1896 which is classed under T27.1a:H99.]

T27.6: Public health reports (weekly)

(v. nos.)

[The "Bulletins of the public health," nos. 1-46, published in accordance with the national quarantine act of Apr. 29, 1878, were issued weekly from July 13, 1878, to May 24, 1879. They were originally published on separate sheets by manifold process. In order to preserve them in permanent form, they were reprinted in one volume by the Marine-Hospital Service in 1881, and were later designated as v. 1 of this series. The Public Documents Library has them only in the reprint of 1881.

From July 5, 1879, to July 1, 1882, the series of "Bulletins of the public health" issued by the Marine-Hospital Service was superseded by the series of weekly bulletins issued by the National Board of Health; see T29.3¹:

In 1887, the publication was resumed by the Marine-Hospital Service under the title Weekly abstract of sanitary reports, and the issues for that year, numbered from 47 to 96, Jan. 20-Dec. 30, constitute v. 2. With v. 3, 1888, the plan of beginning a new series of numbers for each annual volume was adopted. The word "weekly" disappeared from the individual issues with v. 5, no. 3, but was retained on the volume title-pages through v. 10.

With v. 11, 1896, the title was changed to Public health reports, the back title of the bound volumes reading, Weekly public health reports.]

[v. 1] Bulletins of public health [nos. 1-46, July 13, 1878-May 24, 1879], issued by supervising surgeon-general under national quarantine act of Apr. 29, 1878. Reprint 1881. (Treas. Dept. doc. 74.) T27.12: Public health bulletins

(nos.)

[In Jan. 1910, the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service brought together in one series its various miscellaneous publications relating to public health, with the new series title as given above, assigning to those previously issued the numbers 1 to 30, as indicated in their list of publications issued Jan. 1910; no. 31 also appeared without number in 1910. Although this Checklist ends with the publications of the calendar year 1909, nos. 30 and 31 are included here in order to give a complete list of the bulletins which appeared without numbers. Beginning with no. 32, the number is printed on the publication.
This series has no connection with the series of Bulletins of public health, nos. 1-46, issued weekly, July 13, 1878-May 24, 1879, which form v. 1 of the series of weekly Public health reports; see T27.6:1.]

T27.13: List of changes of stations and duties of commissioned and other officers of Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service for 7 days ended — 4°
(date) [Weekly.]

[The wording of the title of this series has varied from time to time. Only the radical changes are shown in the list below. There have also been minor changes. On issues of Mar. 11, 18, Apr. 1, 15, 1908, the words "and noncommissioned" are omitted, though the publication contains the usual information. After the change of title, July 8, 1908, one issue, that for July 22, 1908, reverts to the old form of title, and on issues for July 8, 15, 29, Aug. 5, 12, 1908, the form "station" instead of "stations" is used. Beginning Aug. 19, 1908, the title has uniformly appeared as given in the heading above. In cases where publication on one of the regular dates is omitted, the next issue reads "for 14 days ended —."]

T28. MINT BUREAU

[The United States Mint was established at Philadelphia under act approved Apr. 2, 1792 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 246). Branch mints in certain other cities were authorized by acts approved Mar. 3, 1835 (Stat. L. v. 4, p. 774), and July 3, 1852 (Stat. L. v. 10, p. 11).

The act approved Feb. 12, 1873 (Stat. L. v. 17, p. 424) provided "that the Mint of the United States is hereby established as a bureau of the Treasury Department, embracing in its organization and under its control all mints * * * and assay-offices * * *, which are now, or which may be hereafter, authorized by law."]

[Until 1857, annual reports were for calendar year and were made by the director to the President. The act of Feb. 21, 1857, required that the report be made to the Secretary of the Treasury and that it be for fiscal year. The report for 1857 is for Jan.-June, since which time reports have been for fiscal year.

Reports for 1819-56 appeared only in the Congressional set, as listed below under those years.

T28.6: Mineral resources west of Rocky Mountains

[The back-titles and the title-page titles of this set have varied greatly. The words "Mineral resources west of Rocky Mountains," which appeared uniformly as back-titles of the last 6 issues, have been chosen as the series title for the set. The imprint dates and those on the backs of the books differ from the actual dates covered by the reports. Book numbers are assigned by the years covered.]

- 866¹ [Preliminary] report upon mineral resources of States and Territories west of Rocky Mountains [1866; by J. Ross Browne]. 1867. 321 p. [1289-29]
- 866² Reports upon mineral resources of United States [1866]; by J. Ross Browne and James W. Taylor. 1867. 360 p. [The main part of this volume is the report by Browne entered above (T28.6: 866¹), in addition to which is included Taylor's report, Gold mining east of Rocky Mountains (39th Congress, 2d session, House executive document 92, serial number 1293) and also Land Office Circular in relation to mining claims, Jan. 14, 1867.]
- 867 Report on mineral resources of States and Territories west of Rocky Mountains [1867]; [by] J. Ross Browne. 1868. [1342-202] [Bureau edition contains also Report of James W. Taylor on mineral resources of United States east of Rocky Mountains (40th Congress, 2d session, House executive document 273, serial no. 1343).]
- 868 Mineral resources of States and Territories west of Rocky Mountains [calendar year 1868, 1st annual report]; by Rossiter W. Raymond. 1869. ([40th Cong. 3d sess. H. ex.doc. 54]; serial no. 1374.)
- [Another print of this report, with title, Mines of the West, was printed by J. B. Ford and Company, New York, evidently from the plates used by the Government Printing Office, having the document notation in the signature mark. It is not regarded as a public document because there is no proof that it was printed by authority of the Government.]

T29. NATIONAL BOARD OF HEALTH

[Created by act approved Mar. 3, 1879 (Stat. L. v. 20, p. 484) and organized Apr. 2 of that year. The act of June 2, 1879 (Stat. L. v. 21, p. 5) defined the powers and duties of the board, transferring to it certain work relating to quarantine which formerly had been required of the Marine Hospital Service (T27.) by the national quarantine act which was approved Apr. 29, 1878 (Stat. L. v. 20, p. 37). The act of June 2, 1879, also limited the duration of the National Board of Health to 4 years. Hence it virtually expired June 2, 1883, although annual reports for 1884 and 1885 were issued, the work being carried on for those years, after which it came to an end for lack of appropriations.]

T29.1: Annual reports

- (date) [By act of July 5, 1884 (Stat. L. v. 23, p. 277), Congress ordered the reports for 1880-83 reprinted, 1000 copies of each.
Quarterly reports also were required, but the only ones known to have been made are those for 1880, 3 of which appeared as appendixes to the annual report, while that for the 4th quarter was used as the annual report itself. The Public Documents Library has no separate prints of such quarterly reports; if they were issued separately, they may have been included in the numbered 8° series of Reports and papers; see T29.1a: (nos.).]

T29.3¹: Bulletins 4° [Weekly]

(v. nos.) [This weekly series superseded the series of Bulletins of public health, v. 1, nos. 1-46, issued from July 13, 1878, to May 24, 1879, by Marine Hospital Service (T27.6:1). Those listed here ran from July 5, 1879, to July 1, 1882, when publication was suspended because the appropriation for printing was exhausted. Some years later, Jan. 20, 1887, the publication was resumed by the Marine Hospital Service as v. 2 of their Public health reports, with title, Weekly abstract of sanitary reports (T27.6:).]

T33. REVENUE-CUTTER SERVICE

[Organized under act of Aug. 4, 1790 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 175). There being at that time no Navy Department, this service was, as a matter of convenience in the discharge of public business, attached to the Treasury Department, where it has since remained, although the act of Mar. 2, 1799, after the establishment of the Navy Department, provided that "the revenue-cutters shall, whenever the President so directs, cooperate with the Navy." Formerly known also as Revenue-Marine Service.]

T33.1: Annual reports

(date) [From 1843 to 1848, a report was made annually by the captain of the Revenue Marine Service. As far as is known these appeared in the Congressional set only, as follows:

1843	[441-45]	1846	[499-17]
1844	[463-22]	1847	[516-30]
1845	[482-39]	1848	[543-52]

A summary of the work of the Revenue-Cutter Service is usually included each year in the personal report of the Secretary of the Treasury. Certain signed reports for fiscal year have also been issued by the Revenue-Cutter Service as shown below.]

T34.5: General orders

(nos.) [Issued only for the information of agents of the service. Not listed here.]

† Two circular letters numbered 273 were issued with different titles and different dates.

135. SPECIAL AGENTS DIVISION

[Special agents of the Treasury Department have been employed and recognized by law almost from the organization of the Department. About 1870, judging from entries in the Official register (I 1.25:) and the Congressional directory (Y4.P93:1), a more definite organization seems to have been effected, as the Division of Special Agents, in the Office of the Secretary, under a supervising special agent. Although from the beginning, the work in connection with customs has been one of the most important duties of the special agents, the latter have from time to time been assigned to other special lines of work, such as seal and salmon fisheries in Alaska, Chinese exclusion, manufacture of tin and terne plate, etc. The act establishing the Department of Commerce and Labor approved Feb. 14, 1903, effective July 1, 1903, transferred to the new Department all jurisdiction, supervision, and control formerly exercised by the Treasury Department over seal, salmon, and other fisheries of Alaska, and over the exclusion from the United States of the Chinese; see, for later matter relating to these subjects, notes and entries under C2. and C7.]

T37. STATISTICS BUREAU

[By act of Feb. 10, 1820, the Secretary of the Treasury was requested to prepare annually for Congress statistical accounts of commerce of United States with foreign countries. As, prior to 1820, such work had been done by the Register of the Treasury, he was called upon by the Secretary to make the required report, and the following year compiled the statement on commerce and navigation for 1821, which is the first of the long series of statistical reports listed below (T. 7.1.). The work was continued in the office of the Register for many years and increased in scope and importance until the Statistics Bureau was created by act approved July 28, 1866. The Statistics Bureau was consolidated with Foreign Commerce Bureau of State Department and transferred to Commerce and Labor Department, July 1, 1903; see C14.]

T37.1: Annual reports, Foreign commerce and navigation

8° and 4°

[As the commerce of the country has increased, these statistical reports have grown from octavo to bulky quarto volumes. For 1866-76, a brief annual report of the director with usually some condensed statistical matter is found also in annual reports of Treasury Department (Finance reports, T1.1.).

Until 1850, there is no edition without Congressional document number.

See, for papers relating to commerce and navigation, Apr. 13, 1789-Feb. 25, 1823, American state papers, commerce and navigation, serial nos. 014-015.]

[This 1891 volume on Internal commerce is the last of the series to appear in the annual reports on Foreign commerce and navigation. From 1892 to 1899, because of lack of appropriation, there were no statistics compiled on the subject of internal commerce, except a report by George G. Tunell on lake commerce; see T37.2:L14. During calendar year 1900, commercial monographs dealing with internal and foreign commerce of leading staples were published in the Monthly summary of commerce and finance (T37.8:) as follows:

- Jan. 1900. Grain trade of United States.
 Feb. 1900. Provision trade of United States.
 Mar. 1900. Cotton trade of United States.
 Apr. 1900. Coal trade of United States.
 Aug. 1900. Iron and steel trades of United States.
 Nov. 1900. Lumber trade of United States.
 Dec. 1900. Shipping industry of United States.

From May to Dec. 1900, statistics of lake commerce appeared in the Monthly summary of commerce and finance, and beginning with Jan. 1901, statistics of internal commerce, including lake commerce, have appeared regularly in the Monthly summary; see T37.8: and since July, 1903, C14.14: The matter in the Monthly summary which relates to internal commerce has been issued separately also, and such separates are classed under T37.8a: up to July, 1903, after which they are classed under C14.14c:]

T37.11: List of merchant vessels

- (date) [Transferred to Navigation Bureau, Treasury Dept. (T30.5:) by act of July 5, 1884, effective July 1, 1884.

Prior to 1867, earlier lists, not public documents, but authorized by the Treasury Department, were published by Rogers and Black, the only copy in the Public Documents Library being for 1847, the title-page for which reads: Rogers and Black's Marine roll, or list of names of permanently registered and enrolled vessels above 20 tons, comprising mercantile marine, furnished for American semaphoric signal book, by authority of Treasury Department; by Rogers and Black, patentees. Baltimore, published by F. Lucas, jr. [1847].]

- 1867 [Preliminary list, numerical arrangement]. [Mar. 11] 1868. 4^o

[This preliminary list was compiled from returns from collectors of customs reporting vessels belonging to their districts on June 30, 1867.

It includes a letter of the Secretary of Treasury dated Mar. 1868, which required the collectors of customs to "communicate to the director of the Bureau of Statistics, promptly at the close of each fiscal quarter hereafter, a list of the vessels to which numbers have been affixed."

The Public Documents Library assumes that these quarterly returns from collectors of customs are the "1st and 2d supplements" and the "3d-8th supplements" of which mention is made in the letter of transmittal of the 2d and succeeding lists. Supplements 1 and 2 were presumably not printed, but were incorporated in the 1st list (T37.11:867²); supplements 3-8 were incorporated in the 1st supplement to the 2d list (T37.11:868.)]

- 1867 [1st], alphabetical arrangement. [Nov. 28, 1868, published] 1869.
 [Embraces Preliminary list and 1st and 2d supplements thereto.]

- 1868, 2d [with 1st supplement to 2d list, up to Apr. 21, 1870, also 2d supplement to unrigged list]. [The 2d list proper embraces contents of the 1st list with revisions to June 30, 1868. The 1st supplement to the 2d list embraces "supplements 3-8"; see note following T37.11:867¹.]

T38. STEAMBOAT-INSPECTION SERVICE

[As early as July 7, 1838, an act was passed providing for the inspection of steamboats. The Service was reorganized by act approved Aug. 30, 1852. By the provisions of this act, inspectors were appointed and work carried on under the direction of the Treasury Department. The Service was again reorganized by act of Feb. 28, 1871, which act has been merged in Title 52 of Revised statutes, and is substantially the law now in force relating to steamboats. Transferred to Commerce and Labor Department July 1, 1903.

For further history of the Service, see Organization and law of Department of Commerce and Labor, C12:O33.

See, for later publications, C15.]

T39. ARCHITECT, SUPERVISING

[Until 1853, the erection of custom-houses and other public buildings was under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury who employed architects and superintendents as necessary. In 1853, with a view to more efficient management, a practical engineer from the War Department was detailed to take charge of the work subject to the Secretary of the Treasury, general regulations were adopted, and a department of construction organized.

1854-61, the engineer in charge of the office of construction of buildings made annually a report which was included in annual reports of Treasury Department (Finance reports, T1.1:). In 1861, the office was called Construction Bureau.

No report was made for 1862, but the report for that year is included in the report for 1863 which was signed by the supervising architect and appeared in annual report of Treasury Department (Finance report, T1.1:863).

By act approved Mar. 14, 1864 (Stat. L. v. 13, p. 27), the appointment of a superintending architect in the construction branch of the Treasury Department was authorized, "the same to be employed and continued only during the rebellion and for one year after its close."

The act of Mar. 2, 1865 (Stat. L. v. 13, p. 449), made appropriation for a supervising architect for fiscal years 1866-72. After this period the office was recognized as permanent and regular appropriations made. See, for History, organization, and functions of Office of Supervising Architect, T39.2:H62.]

T39.6: Specifications for public buildings

[Contracts for the construction of public buildings under control of Treasury Department have been let according to specifications and plans made in the office of the Supervising Architect since about 1853 when the office was organized as Office of Construction of Buildings. Various methods of advertising for proposals have been used. The Public Documents Library has certain specifications in pamphlet form dating from 1852-56 which are probably the earliest printed. These correlate with a numbered series of large drawings issued with title, Plans of public buildings. The Public Documents Library has but 9 of these books of drawings, ranging in number from 19 to 32 and bearing date either 1855 or 1856. It is believed that at least 35 were issued. The pamphlet specifications are classed as indicated under T39.6¹, while the numbered plans are classed under T39.6²: See, for later and differently issued specifications, proposals, etc., for construction of public buildings, T39.7: See also T39.9.]

[Such libraries as have the pamphlet specifications dating from 1852-56, as described above in note under T39.6; will naturally arrange the pamphlets by assigning book numbers from the Cutter table, using name of place.

Two indexes were issued which assign numbers to the pamphlets, the numbers corresponding usually to the plans accompanying (T39.6²). Complete information as to the extent of the series is not obtainable. The Public Documents Library has only certain separate pamphlets bound together with the 2 indexes; but it is highly probable that this is a special binding of which there was no bona fide edition. Hence the treatment here indicated is that for the separate prints. Not listed here.]

Such titles as the following are included: Invitation for proposals; Supplementary specification; Memorandum specification; Addendum to specification. When specification is for some particular improvement at buildings in several different places, book number is assigned by Cutter table, using name of place first mentioned in title, and references should be made from the other cities.

Each publication has with it a blank form for proposal. Drawings to accompany specifications are frequently mentioned, but presumably they are to be had only upon application to the Supervising Architect.

The Public Documents Library has no publications of this class of earlier date than 1908. It is not known in what form specifications, etc., were issued for many years preceding that date. See, for specifications issued during early years of Office of Supervising Architect, T39.6: See also T39.9.]

T40. TREASURER OF UNITED STATES

[This office was created when the Treasury Department was established by act approved Sept. 2, 1789 (Stat. L. v. 1, p. 65).]

T40.1: Annual reports

(date) [1853-1909, in annual reports of Treasury Department (Finance reports, T1.1), and since 1865 issued separately also.

From 1799 to 1890, the Treasurer has also submitted to Congress an annual statement of accounts. These statements have been printed as Congressional documents, of which there have been no bureau editions. Prior to Dec. 1, 1817, they are listed in Early Congress papers of the first 14 Congresses (Z4.1). The list of Early Congress papers will appear later in separate form. Beginning with the 15th Congress, which convened Dec. 1, 1817, the annual statements appear in the Congressional set, as follows:

T41. NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS

[May 29, 1830, the Senate adopted a motion directing "the Secretary of the Treasury to cause a comparison to be made of the standards of weight and measure used at the principal custom-houses of the United States, and to report to the Senate at the next session of Congress." Mar. 3, 1831, the Secretary of the Treasury reported that the work of comparing the standards of weight and measure was "commenced under the immediate superintendence of Mr. [Ferdinand Rudolph] Hassler," giving an account of what had been done. Prof. Hassler, speaking of this work, says that he was engaged in the Treasury Department "in comparing the weights and measures used at the custom-houses of the United States, and ascertaining by experiment the proper hydrometer proofs of liquor." Such large discrepancies were found in the standards of weight and measure that the Secretary of the Treasury directed that standards be adopted by the Treasury Department, and that copies be made and distributed to the various custom-houses. Congress, by joint resolution approved June 14, 1836, ordered that the Treasury Department should furnish each State with copies of these standards, and by act approved July 7, 1838, it was provided that the Secretary of the Treasury cause to be made under the superintendence of Mr. Hassler one standard balance for each State. By joint resolution approved July 27, 1865, a set of standard weights and measures of the metric system was ordered to be delivered to the governor of each State. By joint resolution approved Mar. 3, 1881, it was provided that a complete set of all the weights and measures adopted as standards should be delivered by the Secretary of the Treasury to the governor of each State for the use of agricultural colleges in the States, respectively, which have received a grant of land from the United States, and one set of the same to the Smithsonian Institution. In act approved Mar. 3, 1873, an appropriation was made for "standard weights and measures." In act approved June 20, 1878, "Standard Weights and Measures" appears in small capitals at the head of the paragraph making appropriations therefor, and this form was used until act approved Aug. 5, 1882, when the heading was "Office of Construction of Standard Weights and Measures." In 1891, it became the Office of Standard Weights and Measures, and so continued until July 1, 1901, when it became the National Bureau of Standards.

Prior to July 1, 1901, the office was under the Coast and Geodetic Survey; see T11. Transferred to Commerce and Labor Department July 1, 1903, under name of Standards Bureau; see C13.

See, for history of this bureau, report of superintendent of Coast and Geodetic Survey, 1890, p. 735 (T11:1:890), and Organization and law of Department of Commerce and Labor, p. 413 (C1.2:Or3.)

Classification no. T41. NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS—Cont'd

T41.1: Annual reports 4°

(date) [There seems to be no report on the construction of standards of weights and measures after Prof. Hassler's appointment as superintendent of the Coast Survey, Aug. 9, 1832, except by correspondence, until 1856. In 1834 and 1835 the Coast Survey was under the Navy Department and the construction of standards of weights and measures under the Treasury Department, so it was not possible that there should be any reports of the latter in the reports of the Coast Survey. When the Coast Survey was again placed under the Treasury Department, in 1836, the annual reports of the Coast Survey usually included the operations of the construction of the standards of weights and measures. When the office was separated from the Coast and Geodetic Survey, in 1901, and it became the National Bureau of Standards, it began issuing annual reports.]

T42. MISCELLANEOUS DIVISION

[Established as one of 7 divisions authorized by act approved Mar. 3, 1875 (Stat. L. v. 18, pt. 3, p. 396), which became effective July 1, 1875. First known as Division of Mercantile Marine and Internal Revenue. In 1882, known as Division of Captured Property, Claims, and Lands. In 1888, the name was changed to Miscellaneous Division. After 1905, no appropriation was made for the division and it ceased to exist June 30, 1906, the work being transferred to other offices in the Treasury Department by an order signed by the acting Secretary and dated July 27, 1906.]

T45. GENERAL SUPPLY COMMITTEE †

W. WAR DEPARTMENT

[Created by act approved Aug. 7, 1789, being the second of the Executive Departments to be established. The supervision of naval affairs which was originally assigned to this Department was transferred to the Navy Department at its establishment in 1798; jurisdiction in the matters of public lands, military pensions, and Indian affairs was transferred to the Department of the Interior when that Department was created in 1849.

See, for Establishment of War Department, its interior organization and administration, by William A. De Caidry, p. 31-106 of Reports on International Exhibition of 1876, v. 10 (S6.13:R29¹⁰), which was also issued separately and classed under S6.13^a:W19.]

Beginning 1823, regular annual reports appear in the Congressional set, as indicated below. Prior to 1866, there was no edition without Congressional document number. For 1866-76, the copies in the Public Documents Library indicate that for certain years there were true Department editions, whereas for other years the reports were printed only as Congressional documents. † This Checklist ends with the publications of the calendar year 1909. Since that time the new General Supply Committee created by law has been organized under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, necessitating new classes, the heading and series title for which are as follows:

T45. General Supply Committee

[Reorganized under sec. 4 of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act approved June 17, 1910 (Stat. L. v. 36, pt. 1, p. 531). The effect of this section was to abolish the former General Supply Committee as organized under Executive order 1071, May 31, 1909; see, for publications of that committee, entries and footnote for GS.

The new committee is composed of one representative from each of the 9 Executive Departments. The Government Printing Office, Interstate Commerce Commission, Smithsonian Institution, and the Superintendent of State, War, and Navy building are no longer represented on the committee and the provisions of sec. 4 of the act of June 17, 1910, are not applicable to the government of the District of Columbia.

The committee is specifically required by the law to make an annual schedule of miscellaneous supplies and to standardize such supplies, eliminating all unnecessary grades and varieties.

The Secretary of the Treasury under the law signs contracts for supplies (exigencies excepted) for all the Executive Departments and independent bureaus, the General Supply Committee acting as his aids. The General Supply Committee is not, strictly speaking, a Treasury Department body. The law authorizes for the committee a superintendent of supplies and 2 other employees, who are carried on the pay rolls of the Treasury Department. But the committee is not under the control of the Treasury Department. While the law does not specifically state that the superintendent of supplies shall be a member of the General Supply Committee, the present incumbent of that office is the representative of the Treasury Department and so becomes a member of the committee.]
